In the News: NY1, Huffington Post, The Economist and More

Posted At : March 4, 2010 11:34 AM | Posted By : Food Bank Staff
Related Categories: In the News, Government Supports, Nutrition & Food

Food Bank For New York City continually works to raise awareness and support for hunger relief through media outreach and information sharing. Here are highlights of the recent stories that have featured the Food Bank:

NY1, "Food Bank Offers Free Tax Help As Uncle Sam Offers Sizable Tax Credit"
With tax season officially in full swing, the Food Bank For New York City, elected official and government agencies join forces to make sure New Yorkers get back every penny they deserve..read more [Includes VIDEO]

The Brooklyn Daily Eagle*, "Free Tax Site Helps Brooklynites File for EITC Credits"
The Food Bank partners with the Brooklyn Community Foundation and Capital One Bank to provide tax assistance for the working poor in northern Brooklyn as part of our Tax Assistance Program..read more

The Huffington Post*, "My 2010 Wish List for NYC"
Gordon Campbell, President and CEO of United Way NYC, brings in the New Year with a loud cheer and his recommendations of achievable goals for 2010 that will help low-income New Yorkers..read more

The Economist*, Letter to the Editor
Food Bank For New York City President and CEO Lucy Cabrera responds to "The Big Apple Is Hungry," published in January 2010 by The Economist…read more

The Packer*, "Produce Industry Contributes Heavily to Feeding New York's Hungry"
The Packer — the leading source of news for the fresh fruit and vegetable industry — explores the Food Bank's food distribution efforts, which provided more than 13 million pounds of fresh produce for New Yorkers in need in fiscal year 2009..read more